A total bet the combined points scored by each team is the most common form of over/under betting, but the concept is now applied to things like props, regular season wins, and so much more. Total bets are among the most popular wagering options in sports betting, behind point spreads and moneylines.

In order to calculate your potential payout you simply multiply your stakes (the amount of money you wagered) by the odds. For example, if you bet R$100 on the Pistons beating the Knicks at 2.25 odds, your total potential payout would be R$225 ($\100×2.25).

One such sport that is becoming more and more popular is called the Simulated Reality League. With its help, punters can keep on making bets on Parimatch and earning money.

In this article, we are going to explain what the SRL league is, how it works, and what kinds of bets you can make on Parimatch.

What Is the SRL Prediction and How It Works?

A Simulated Reality League is nothing but a virtual sporting event, which means that it is a product of computer graphics imaging. The distinguishing feature is that SRL aims to simulate real-life scenarios; consequently, you will see events, teams, and players that exist in real life and are created to provide gamblers with the best experience. In short, the goal of such games is to make a virtual sporting event, watching which punters will feel as if it is a real thing. But how does SRL work? Even though it may seem complicated, this is only the first impression. It is a simulation, so developers utilize real-world information and develop an algorithm from it. For this purpose, data is gathered from the past 500 games of a specific player or team, their form, vital statistics, and even collect their professional history. Moreover, the climate of the place where the virtual game will take place is also considered. As a result, they are able to come up with simulated odds for the online gamblers due to all the information about the teams that will participate in the upcoming game. That is why punters can make Simulated Reality League predictions.
